

Leeroy wakes up early in the morning and prepares to set off for work. Unfortunately he woke up late and rushes to get to work. He quickly changes his clothes, brushes his teeth, and says goodbye to his family.

As Leeroy rushes to work he realized he never packed anything for lunch. Leeroy realizes that he has to pick up lunch from somewhere but with his busy schedule he doesn't have time to wait in any long lines. If only there was something to help him solve this problem.

Leeroy gets to his first job and starts working. One of his coworkers see a worried expression on his face and goes to ask what's wrong. Leeroy explains his problem. His coworker then solves his problem with one easy step.

She introduces him to an app specifically made for scenarios Leeroy is stuck in. This app accurately shows short and long lines for restaurants around him. Not only does it do this but the app also allows for a person to place a pick up order. The app accurately shows how long the until the food is ready and will notify Leeroy when the food is ready for pick up.

Leeroy can't believe it!! His problem that he runs into quite often is solved all thanks to this app. He downloads the app on his phone and places an order to be picked up during his small amount of free time he has. He waits until his free time and goes to pick up his food.

Leeroy can't believe how well the app worked. His order was ready and waiting when he got to the restaurant. He didn't have to wait in any line and was able to quickly get his food leaving him time to spare. Now everytime Leeroy forgets to pack his lunch he has an easy solution!

Anita works at the Russell House Chick-fil-A. She is upset because she is forced to use the inefficient grubhub app.

Anita hears that there is a new app that is able to interact with USC's meal swipe program. Anita downloads the USC Food Court app to see what it's all about.

Using the new USC Food Court app, Anita uses data collected from the app to anticipate customer volume and make extra food before rushes. Anita is able to notify customers when their food is ready with the quick and easy to use UI of the new app.

Anita's workday is less stressful now that she doesn't have to hold a hungry mob at bay at the Chick-fil-A counter. Everyday at night she thanks The Lord for blessing her with this wonderful app.

Anita spreads the word to her fellow managers at the Russell House and the USC Food Court app is widely adopted. The USC dining experience is made much more enjoyable for all parties involved.

In order to thank Anita for promoting the use of the USC Food Court app, the students of USC elect Anita as President. Pastides understands that his merits are outmatched and willingly steps down. Anita went on to marry and procreate with Ben. They live happily in the suburbs of South Carolina with five children.

Carlos is a high school graduate who has a history of sports, being healthy, and has an occupation of an UBER Driver. He is about to break on the verge of college, where he will attend the University of South Carolina. However, he has a concern about not being able to get food in time for his classes, as his schedule is pretty demanding as well the distance he walks to and from classes.

In the search to find ways to get food as quickly and consistently as possible, Carlos and his parents came across a brand new app called USC: Food Court. After reading about it a little more, they decided that Carlos should download the app to help with his situation.

Carlos downloads the USC: Food Court app, and his situation is instantly solved. He has various options of establishments to choose from, and it allows him to find the fastest and most consistent way to be able to get what he needs.

Carlos is able to customize his own plans for his meals. With the ability to have Diet plans, and choose more healthy substitutions, Carlos can keep his healthy diet and maintain his body that he takes lots of care of. If Carlos is not able to grab his grub, he has the ability to save his meals for later, which can save him lots of time during college.

College classes can be very demanding, especially for someone like Carlos as he tries to maintain his job as an UBER Driver as well. He wouldn't have much time to worry about when his food is ready, or even going to the establishment himself to order.

Carlos' healthy has continued to improve ever since using the USC: Food Court app. He does not stress about not being able to get his food on time or being late to class, and he can work out more efficiently due to his health improved.

Carlos now has a plan to get his food quick and easy during his time at USC

Carlos is forever thankful that he took the time to research and download the USC: Food Court app.

Aurora is a full-time college student with a very busy schedule. Her studies keep her occupied for nearly the entire day.

Aurora can't find time to get a meal in the middle of the day. It has become a habit for her to skip lunch to get to her afternoon classes on time.

Aurora downloads USC Food Court to find a way to make time to eat well during her busy days.

Aurora finds restaurants that she can order ahead at near her classes so she can pick up her food without having to wait.

Aurora now has a plan to get lunch and dinner every day of the week.

Aurora's hygiene has begun to improve as the app began suggesting healthier options for her.

Aurora is glad she downloaded USC Food Court. It has done so much to improve her health.